Corner Office

So as I approach 22 years on duty as your credit union's CEO, I am struck by how much has changed and yet how much remains the same.

In 1996 we had no branches outside of city hall and no web page but yet our focus was on serving our member owners. 8,030 days later we offer remote check deposit and facial recognition through our mobile app but yet our focus is on serving our member owners. I could break it down into hours and minutes but I am sure you get the message…we all work for you, the member owners of this credit union and our job is to provide you the best owners experience possible.

We all work for you, the member owners of this credit union.

The other day a member was in my office looking to get a quick personal loan which featured a little higher interest rate due to the lack of collateral. After some initial discussion I explained if we used their 2009 Civic we could cut their interest rate in half and the member asked me why we would do that. I smiled and reminded them I work for them and my job is provide the best service and rates and fees for their financial future. In a cooperative we all win.
